ABSTRACT:

The Micro, Small and Medium sized Enterprise (MSMEs) Sector continue to be a vibrant sector of the Indian economy. This sector contributes nearly 45 per cent of the total industrial production and accounts for approximately 40 per cent of the total exports. This Micro Small and Medium sector has every time making a higher growth rate than the large industries. There are over 6000 products ranging from traditional to high-tech items, which are being manufactured by the small enterprises in India. After agriculture, this sector provides the highest opportunities for both self-employment and jobs in India.

Abstract Report: The Title Accurately Said The Study was About.

INTRODUCTION:

The Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises plays a vital role in development and growth of national economies and it is considered to be the engine of employment generation directly and indirectly. MSME in India are acting as a power and spirit of Economic growth in the 21st century. MSMEs are not only labor-intensive but also ensure a more equitable distribution of national income, enhance balanced regional industrial development, act as a nursery of entrepreneurship development and facilitate mobilization of local resources which might otherwise remain unutilized. In India, at 1954 organization of Development Commissioner was established as Small Industries Development Organization (SIDO) on the basis of the recommendations of the Ford Foundation.

CONCLUSION :

In nutshell Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) have emerged as an engine of growth in Indian economy in whole. This sector has been emerged as a vibrant and dynamic component of the economy by virtue of their noteworthy contribution to Gross Domestic Production of the country, towards employment generation, export and industrial production. After agriculture sector, this MSME sector is second in India. The understandings from recent year's shows that employment in agriculture sector has been declining as well as large industries are also experiencing retrenchment. In such circumstances, the main duty for job creation rests with unorganized sector including service sector and Micro, Small and Medium enterprises.
