Introduction

Reading is one Language –arts activity that is very frequently used in school at classes in both elementary and secondary schools. Manning et al 1984 stated that students who are learning have as much difficulty with oral reading as they do with silent reading for comprehension.

A Good Introduction :-

Depict the significance (importance) of the study - why was this value doing in any case? Give a wide connection. Shield the model - why did you utilize this specific life form or framework? What are its focal points? You may remark on its suitability from a hypothetical perspective and demonstrate viable explanations behind utilizing it.

Materials

The present study is comparative analysis of reading and spelling test among the private school children. Hence descriptive method of research is used in this study.

A Good Materials :-

Materials may be accounted for in a different passage or else they may be distinguished alongside your systems.

Result

The collected data were analysed using appropriate statistical techniques. The descriptive statistics such as Mean, SD and t-value were computed. In order to study relationship between the variables correlation (r) were used.

A Good Result :-

Give a setting, for example, by depicting the inquiry that was tended to by mentioning a specific observable fact. Portray aftereffects of control investigations and incorporate perceptions that are not exhibited in a formal figure or table, if proper.

Discussion

The present study investigation was an attempt to assess the relationship between reading test and spelling test and also reading age and spelling age of the students. From the stated hypotheses were formulated and tested in this study, and concluded both accepting and rejecting the formulated hypotheses.

A Good Discussion :-

The research have wider scope for new academician and research scholars.
