ABSTRACT

The origin of a very inhuman practice of “untouchability” is dated back to the Vedic period. It is widely acknowledged that traditional Indian society was based on Varna and Jati. The Hindu caste system is based on a social hierarchy which assigns untouchables to the lowest gladder of the society. Traditionally, the caste system was divided into four classes, or Varnas, i.e. the Brahmins, the Kshatriyas, the Vaishyas and the Shudras.

Introduction

The first literary traces of the caste system were found in Rigveda and Purnasukta hymn. It is widely acknowledged that traditional Indian society was based on varna and jati. This system is very ancient in origin and through the passage of time it has undergone profound changes, but caste still a very powerful institution in our socio-economic, religious and political organization.

Conclusion

Ancient history had witnessed the barbaric practice of Untouchability. However, modern reformations, such as civil rights, have helped to improve and raise awareness of the conditions of the lowest castes. The Constitution of India a fundamental law of land contains various provisions for eradication of Untouchability. Preamble, Part-III, Part- IV etc.

A Good Conclusion :-

REVIEWER COMMENTS

- This was a superb give an account of extremely intensive examination.
- The writing audit was careful, the approach was carefully exhaustive and fused the utilization of sufficient quantities of tests in dust size examination and blast tests.
- I discover no shortcoming at all with the routines, information examination, or conclusions.
