ABSTRACT

Ministerial accountability is regarded as the only way of ensuring effective Parliamentary control. This responsibility may be individual or collective, according to whether a single minister or the entire cabinet is implicated. As it is rare for an action performed by a minister not to be linked to general policy, ministerial accountability is usually a collective matter. If Parliament expresses a lack of confidence in one of the ministers

REVIEWER COMMENTS

- The work, as with all work advancing from this specific gathering, is generally sound.
- My remarks here are concerned singularly with the association of the composition.
- Thought of these focuses will, I accept, lead to an enhanced report that better shows the key ideas and conclusions.
- Generally, this is a reasonable, brief, and elegantly composed original
