ABSTRACT

The aim of the article is to study how trade was used as a tool to bolster the relations between the Vijayanagara and Portuguese Empire. The Portuguese and the Vijayanagara rulers realized that the vitality of their power edifices depended very much upon their ability in pumping wealth from various regions. The forces emitted by trade cemented the linkage between the two and produced dynamics for sustaining the political processes and both the power houses benefited out of the resultant commercial vibrancy that fetched for them enough returns to sustain the battles of expansion of the Portuguese and the wars of consolidation of the Vijayanagara
