ABSTRACT

It is needless to say that tea is one of the most important industry of Assam . Assam produces almost 51% of the total tea of India and 1/6th of the total produced in the world. But Govt of Assam has not been able to monitor the tea industry of Assam as properly as it deserve. Tea garden workers are not getting their wages on proper time and neither the industry is making adequate profits. Our study is mainly based on the present condition of tea industry in Assam (under Govt) and what steps should be taken to improve the scenario of Assam tea industry.

REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

Tea Industry Of Assam. It's Present And Future

Gautam Sarma

Abstract and Introduction:

Assam produces almost 51% of the total tea of India and 1/6th of the total produced in the world. But Govt of Assam has not been able to monitor the tea industry of Assam as properly as it deserve. The abstract was quite short. Introduction was justifying. Significance of the area under study mentioned clearly in Introduction.

Methodology:

The research was a descriptive research and was based on primary as well as secondary data. There were 14 gardens under this corporation and researcher have visited five. Limitations of the study stated clearly .

Presentation of Results:

Proper allocation of funds with proper planning is of utmost important on the part of the government to bring back the past glory of Assam tea. Regular visit to the gardens and strategic discussions with the garden managers should be undertaken. The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text.

Conclusions:

Present condition of Assam tea industry under the Government is not satisfactory. There is a continuous downfall in the production of tea due to which government is incurring losses.

Scientific Conduct:

There were no instances of plagiarism. Ideas and materials of others are correctly attributed.

Relevance:

The study was relevant to the mission of the journal or its audience. The study was worth doing.
