ABSTRACT

Man by nature has the inherent trait of insatiability His priority for accelerated growth and development for fulfilling his luxuries and desires has exploited the nature to its core. Now it is the nature's turn to bounce back and so there are environmental threats of climate change where the global warming lies at its core reason. Devastating effects of global warming and climate change world over are now a regular phenomenon. Global warming is one of the most discussed and debated issues of the 21st century, concerning the scientific and the humanistic fraternity alike.

Climate Change Mitigation For Sustainable Environment:
Potential & Portent

Shahab Shabbir and Shamima Shabbir

Abstract and Introduction:

Global warming is one of the most discussed and debated issues of the 21st century, concerning the scientific and the humanistic fraternity alike. The abstract was interesting and essential details were presented. Introduction was suitable for the area under study. Importance of the area under study mentioned clearly in Introduction.

Reference to the Literature and Documentation:

The literature review was up-to-date. The number of references were appropriate and their selection was justified.

Methodology:

Author described any methodology separately. This was a conceptual paper.

Presentation of Results:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Add Tables, graphs, or figures for accurate representation of the text. The ultimate solution is for humanity to develop cheap and clean energy production, as all economic development is based on ever-increasing energy usage. Though great strides forward have been made in alternative energies, it seems unlikely that these will produce energy on the scale we require in the next few decades.

Discussion and Conclusion:

The conclusions were clearly stated; key points stand out. The conclusions follow from the design, methods, and results; justification of conclusions was well articulated.

Relevance:

The study was relevant to the mission of the journal or its audience. The study was worth doing.

References:

Author mentioned references according to the need of the study.
