Smt. Sangeeta Rachiyata

ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper According to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, “all human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood.”

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation The term “human rights” refers to the rights and privileges that every person in the world should expect to receive as part of being human. Human rights have been violated throughout history and in virtually all known societies, as people have faced oppression, persecution, and exploitation. Only after World War II (1939-45) did human rights become an important international issue and a serious concern of nations around the world.

METHODOLOGY:

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text Prevention of child labour is a Herculean task. It has to be seen that the tender age of children is not abused and the children are given opportunities and facilities to develop in a healthy manner and in conditions of freedom and dignity. It cannot be used for the massive task of social engineering. As long as the social attitude and thinking remains deep rooted in the prevailing society and the law enforcement agencies remain silent, justice cannot be promoted by paper enactments.
