Mrs. M. Shunmugavalli

ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper Financial inclusion enables poor to make sustainable improvements in their quality of life at the community level and faster growth and poverty reduction at the national level. The study focuses on socio-economic status of fisher folk who are financially included. The study is based on both primary and secondary data. Secondary data are collected from books, journals and websites.

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation Financial inclusion can be viewed as an intensification and extension of poverty alleviation efforts (Karmakar, 2008). Financial inclusion is nothing but creating growth opportunities and making them accessible to all particularly to the poor (Alliance, 2010). The effectiveness of various socioeconomic programs and policies including financial inclusion for promoting economic growth and upliftment of the poor should be considered in terms of their success in achieving the basic objective of raising the standard of living and reducing the inequalities (Sengupta, et al, 2008).

METHODOLOGY:

The present study was exclusively realized on secondary data sources. It was purely descriptive type of research since it describes the facts relating to the problem. The study is based on both primary and secondary data. The primary data are collected directly from the fisher folk with the help of interview schedule. The required primary data are collected using pre-tested and well-structured interview schedule.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text In spreading bank branches over the country, services that reach poor and marginalized segments of the community are less. Banks remain unapproachable and credit terms are often not suitable to poor borrowers.

REFERENCES:

RELEVANCE:

The study was relevant to the mission of the journal or its audience. The study addresses important problems or issues; the study was worth doing.
