REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

Analysis Of 2014 Ordinary Election In Ananthapuramu District Of Andhra Pradesh

Dr. K. Prabhakara Reddy<sup>1</sup> and Dr. P. Kesava Reddy<sup>2</sup>

ABSTRACT:

The problem statement was clear and well articulated. The well developed and fully evolved form of democracy that India witnessed today has taken a long span of time to be matured. It has seen both ups and downs, but has managed to survive successfully. It is a well known fact that there is no success without any key. Same way there must be some factors worked for the success of India's democracy. Local Self governments are one such important factor for success of Indian democracy. Local self governments in India guided toward the way of a sustainable democracy.

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation. When Andhra Pradesh was formed in 1956 there were three separate laws dealing with the village / Gram Panchayats that were in force in three different administrative regions—erstwhile Madras, Hyderabad and Mysore. There was an urgent need for rectifying this administrative anomaly. This rendered necessary the passage of one single and comprehensive legislative enactment to deal with the institutional set up of Gram Panchayats throughout the state. This fundamental administrative need was of no less consequence in getting the Andhra Pradesh Gram Panchayats Act, 1964, passed separately.
