REVIEW OF THE ARTICLE

Caste System And Human Rights

Dr. Chikkanna<sup>1</sup> and Dr. Mahalinga K<sup>2</sup>

ABSTRACT:

The problem statement was clear and well articulated Human rights are what reason requires and conscience demands. They are us and we are them. Human rights are rights that any person has as a human being. We are all human beings; we are all deserving of human rights. One cannot be true without the other.” - Kofi Annan, Former Secretary-general of the United Nations

INTRODUCTION:

The introduction provides a good, generalized background of the topic that quickly gives the reader an appreciation The caste system, a basic system of injustice to which all Hindus are subjects; the upper-caste Hindus as privileged and the lower caste Hindus as the sufferers or the victims of the system. Indian society lives in status-quo; therefore, there has not been effective change of the age-old caste system that had come into existence thousands of years ago. Caste has almost as old as Hinduism; and it being the oldest social order of hierarchy of the Hindus guiding the society from the early times to the present, and as no radical change has so far taken place even till today as to caste division, inters-caste exclusiveness

METHODOLOGY:

Author has not mentioned any specific methodology. This study was descriptive in nature. Must add methodology in your article. Methodology used to per research topic.

PRESENTATION OF RESULTS:

The amount of data presented was sufficient and appropriate. Tables, graphs, or figures were used judiciously and agree with the text Human rights are best thought of as potential moral guarantees for each human being to lead a minimally good life. The extent to which this aspiration has not been realized represents a gross failure by the contemporary world to institute a morally compelling order based upon human rights. The philosophical basis of human rights has been subjected to consistent criticism. While some aspects of the ensuing debate between philosophical supporters
